

ABOUT THIS BOOK

Five aliens crash land in the middle of the Australian outback, and find a recently dead survivalist then resurrect him. The survivalist helps the 5 aliens who were on a trade mission to another part of the galaxy, survive during the outback winter. The aliens all have differing agenda's, emotions, cultural and physical characteristics, that slowly present themselves during this unfortunate circumstance even though they all want the survivalist to believe they are not aliens. Each alien comes from a different planet, now trapped on an alien planet try's to survive until they can be rescued and taken back to their home planets. The earth's winter weather begins to take a toll on each of them while with their owe suspicions and agenda's they fight to keep both themselves and this unknowing earthling alive. Suddenly self preservation kicks in as one by one they lose most of their members to weather, accidental death, sickness and animal attacks while they wait for rescue. When the smoke clears and there are only two alien survivors left, while the earthling waits for the rescue ship he plots whether to let them leave dead or alive. Little does he know the two remaining aliens also have plans of their own on how this rescue is going to play out as well.
