

ABOUT THIS BOOK

When three people in need of a job respond to the same position no one gets excited, but when the three compete for the job of a lifetime where the loser doesn't just go home they go to jail everyone gets excited.

Follow each or our most highly qualified candidates for the job of a lifetime where every candidate brings a strong resume, a pleasant personality, and are very well groomed.

Listen in as these top executives vie for the position of a lifetime, one worth dying for in anyone's mine as well as the recruiter. But fear not, only one will be selected for this coveted position. The only downside to this mono-e-mono sales pitch of a lifetime is that one will take all. And not everything is what it seems when the losers get exactly what they bargained for when the final decision is rendered in "The Interview".

Available at amazon

