

ABOUT THIS BOOK

A successful treasure hunt turns into a kidnapping when one prospector gets greedy.

Two people went into the Valley to find a treasure, one is killed, the other claimed to be a kidnapped and was rescued by Park Rangers. The investigation widened when a third person showed up looking for the murdered victim which raised questions about the legitimacy of the kidnapping. Then suddenly the case surrounding the kidnap victim, who reportedly escaped their captives by killing one of them, turns into a case of murder for profit, although no one can find the bounty.
