

ABOUT THIS BOOK

An unknown author writes a book on how to rid the world of evil. He calls evil an infectious disease and his parade of cures includes: counseling, prayer, deliverance, exorcism, and a shot of cold steel then immediate cremation.

The literary agent took the manuscript for a joke from an unknown wannabe, but the publisher took it very seriously.

Follow our writer on his journey to fame and fortune as he risks life and limb for same, with Cold Steel.
